

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS.

With the World Health Organization's official recognition of burnout as a medical condition, and all of us dealing with some anxiety and stress from the pandemic, we want to help you emerge stronger and be equipped to help others.

DID YOU KNOW?

Poor mental health in the workplace directly decreases productivity + profitability. Organizations with low employee engagement scores saw:

Mental health support for employees directly impacts talent retention. 80% of workers would consider quitting their current position for a job that focused more on employees' mental health.

Mental health support for employees directly impacts talent attraction. 89% of workers at companies that support well-being initiatives are more likely to recommend their company as a good place to work.

OUR RESEARCH

We are not here to promise, we're here to prove it. With our research, M+A has designed the solution - a respite room that can help you, your co-workers, and employees return to the office and thrive.

To find out more, check out this QR code!

